Flash Flood Hits Ohio Town; Millions of Dollars Damage

Water Cascade Five Feet High Thru Streets

Community of 3,000 Hit; Kiln Blew Up

Crooksville, O., June 17—(AP)—Disaster swept into this pottery-making community of 3,000 today when a flash flood broke a nearby dam, exploded a huge kiln and set off a fire which burned two potteries to the ground.

Two families were missing after their homes were swept away.

The dam-bursting flood followed a terrific cloudburst.

Crooksville lies 20 miles south of Zanesville in south central Ohio.

Official damage figures were not available. But a member of the Crooksville fire department, Calvin Rose, said he believed it was at least $1,250,000 to three plants alone—$750,000 to the potteries and $500,000 to the big Ohio Pottery Company station here.

Pottery Ruined

Harold Shower, superintendent of the Acme Pottery Co., one of the two potteries destroyed, estimated the damage to the plant at $1,000,000. The pottery is a complete loss, he added, and all that is left standing is part of the walls.

"We turned off the kilns and tried to save as much as we could," Shower said, "but the water came flooding in too fast."

Meanwhile, the state highway patrol reported water in Crooksville's business section was down to about two feet, but remained higher in some residential areas.

No one would hazard a guess as to the damage to business houses and home.

Cascade of Water

The cascade of water gushed up a narrow valley from the broken Misco Mine Company dam five miles southeast. Residents of Crooksville's low-lying areas scrambled to their rooftops.

Five houses in the tiny community of Rose Farm near the dam were washed away by the first rush of water late last night.

Three of the families were accounted for. No trace of the other two was found. They were not immediately identified.

When the avalanche of water hit Crooksville, the state highway patrol reported, one of the town's

Hickenlooper Would Call Acheson Aide

Washington, June 17—(AP)—Senator Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) suggested today that the senate committee looking into the 1945 Amerasia case call Deputy Under-Secretary of State John E. Peurifoy for questioning.

Hickenlooper made the suggestion as the inquiry group arranged to take testimony behind closed doors next Thursday from career diplomat John S. Service, one of the six persons arrested in the secret document episode five years ago.

Service was cleared in the case and returned to duty in the State Department. The case involved the removal of hundreds of secret government documents found by the FBI in the offices of the now defunct Amerasia magazine.

Both Peurifoy and Service figure in a separate Amerasia controversy touched off by Senator McCarthy (R-Wis) in a speech Thursday night.

Speaking at Groton, Conn., the Wisconsin senator said Peurifoy had offered legal aid and loyalty clearance to Emmanuel S. Larsen, another of the six persons involved in the case, in return for testimony favorable to Service when Larsen appeared before the senate investigators.

Deny Accusations

Peurifoy and Larsen both denied that accusation. Peurifoy added that he had been informed McCarthy himself had indicated he would go easy on Larsen. "If he were to testify concerning John Service in a way satisfactory to Senator McCarthy," Peurifoy said, Larsen had told him that.

The Chicago Tribune said in a story from Washington that Peurifoy had lunched this week with Cardinal Spellman at his New York residence and had talked to him about McCarthy, who is a Roman Catholic.

The paper said Peurifoy denied after his meeting with the cardinal in New York that he had asked the prelate to intervene with the senator in behalf of the State Department.

Discussed McCarthy

Under questioning from a Tribune reporter, the story said, Peurifoy acknowledged that McCarthy's name had come up in the conversation. But the State Department official would not comment further on the nature of the discussion, the account added, except to say that it had included consideration of the Communist

Dewey Won't Run For Governor of N. Y. Again; Tired

Albany, N. Y., June 17—(AP)—Governor Dewey today said he would not be a candidate for re-election.

He said he probably would enter private law practice when his term expires next Dec. 31.

Dewey said he was very tired after 20 years in public life but that there was nothing wrong with him that a first-class long rest would not cure.

Dewey's long-awaited decision apparently left the field clear for the nomination of 74-year-old Lt. Gov. Joe R. Hanley for governor at the state convention in Saratoga Springs Sept. 6-7. He is regarded as far in the lead for the nomination.

Asked whether he had a choice, Dewey said:

"I shall not attempt to dictate the choice of the convention of any candidate for any office."

Dewey's public announcement consisted of a 10-word statement which he handed to reporters at the capitol during a news conference. It said:

"I shall not be a candidate for re-election next fall."

Dewey said that he had voluntarily retired from public office twice before—in 1933 and 1941. He did not elaborate.

The 48-year-old Dewey's return to private life apparently ends, at least temporarily, a phenomenal career in which he parlayed his fame as a racket-busting prosecutor into two terms as governor and two lullless GOP nominations for president.

Last winter he renounced future presidential aspirations.

Harry Bridges Appeals Ruling On Citizenship

San Francisco, June 17—(AP)—Australian born Harry Bridges, storm center of San Francisco's waterfront for two decades, has been ordered stripped of his United States citizenship.

Federal District Judge George B. Harris made the ruling yesterday but Defense Attorney Norman Leonard filed notice of appeal. Leonard also filed a written motion for stay of execution which was set for hearing June 21.

Judge Harris presided at the perjury-conspiracy trial of Bridges, president of the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union, and two union aides earlier this year. All three were convicted.

Bridges was convicted of lying at his 1945 naturalization hearing when he denied Communist party membership. The fiery labor leader has steadfastly denied he ever has been a Communist.

Assistant U. S. Attorney Robert McMillan said he would try to have the citizenship revocation order ready for court signature Monday.

C. A. R. Convention Underway Here; Banquet Friday Night

About 70 persons attended the Children of the American Revolution banquet held last night at the Methodist church in connection with the opening of the state convention of the organization here in Dixon. Frederic Johnston of Dixon, state president, acted as master of ceremonies during the dinner and the program following.

At the banquet Peter Nichols and Kay Fuhs presented a number of state adult leaders with corsages. Mrs. W. E. Gronberg led the group in community singing with Miss Clara Armstrong at the piano. Mary Lindquist and Katherine Gronberg furnished dinner music with harp and violin selections. Suzanne Meyer, state chaplain, gave the invocation.

At the public meeting held in the church auditorium later, the state president introduced a number of the leaders to the group. These included Mrs. George Gumbart, senior state president of the C.A.R. of Macomb; Mrs. John Seare of Rock Island, national chairman of the news sheet; Mrs. Lester Addison of Roseville, incoming senior state president; Mrs. Z. W. Moss, of Dixon, past regent of Dixon and the one who brought the speaker to Dixon last evening; Mrs. Ferdinand Friedli of Belleville, state daughters of the American Revolution president; John Batchelder, chairman of the program.

VFW Demands Federal Bonus For Veterans

Rock Island, Ill., June 17—(AP)—The Illinois department. Veterans of Foreign Wars want a national bonus for World War II veterans.

The group's Illinois convention yesterday proposed payments of three dollars a day for service in the United States, up to $3,500; four dollars a day for foreign service, with a top of $4,500, and $500 each for wounds received in combat.

Other resolutions asked President Truman to declare July 25, 1947 as the official end of hostilities for World War II. Setting the date, the convention said, would simplify administration of the Veterans' Preference Act of 1944.

The veterans' group also went on record as opposed to compulsory health insurance and socialized medicine.

The convention opened yesterday and will close Sunday with election of officers. There is a contest for the top post—state commander—between Hugh Keable of Chicago, senior vice commander, and James R. Luke, also of Chicago.

Edith Ann McDougall of Rock Island was named Miss Department of Illinois in a beauty and talent contest.

Illinois Military Order of the Cootie, the state department's fun group, elected E. F. Schultz of Elgin its commander. Arthur Kulle of Chicago was named senior vice commander of the Cootie group, and C. A. Minkler of Peoria, junior vice commander.

The estate was valued at $25,000 in personal property and $65,000 in real estate. County Judge Grover W. Gehant approved the will.

Jury Debates Buchanan's Fate 7 Hours

Morrison, Ill.—After more than seven hours of deliberation the jury in whose hands rests the fate of Ray Buchanan, 30, of Sterling, charged with the murder of Jerry Gilbert, 22, of Sterling, on April 2, indicated to the bailiffs that they had not reached a decision and wished to go to bed.

Judge Ray I. Klingbeil approved of the request and at 11:45 p.m. the eight women and four men slowly climbed the steep circular stairway in the Whiteside circuit court room to the upper jury rooms. There they faced another night on the not too soft cots, where most of the jury have been sleeping since last Tuesday night.

Long Session

Except for an hour out for dinner, the jurors had been trying since 3:35 p.m. to agree upon one of the verdicts which is open to them. They can return a murder verdict which carries the death penalty, a murder verdict with life imprisonment, murder with any term of more than 14 years, manslaughter under which the judge would impose a prison sentence from one to 14 years and not guilty.

Since Tuesday the jurors have seen no papers, heard no radios and have talked to no one except each other and their bailiffs, Deputies Henry Hamilton and Mrs. Florence Swartley. The bailiffs take them to their meals, and secure clean clothes for them and try to make them comfortable. So far, however, they have been unable to make hot water run from the cold water faucets, one thing that would please the jurors immensely.

The testimony in the case was brought to a close at 1:40 p.m. Friday, after both the prosecution and the defense announced that they were resting their cases. The knife which was taken from Buchanan and a knife which was found on the floor of the back porch at the Tucker home in Sterling, where the stabbing is alleged to have taken place, were both admitted as evidence in the case and both were taken by the jury to study.

Denies Provocation

States Attorney John Poole opened the arguments before the jury and said that there was no provocation for Buchanan's act even though Gilbert might have cursed him. He said that when Gilbert arose from the table where he had been drinking beer, the table and about 10 feet of space separated them and that there was absolutely no evidence that Gilbert even took one step toward him. Instead Buchanan flipped open a knife and started for Gilbert, which showed that there was anger, malice and hatred in his heart.

Karl Yost for the defense said that there was doubt as to the

Agents Scour Nation, Follow Up Hot Leads

Key Piece in Puzzle Was Dr. Klaus Fuchs

Washington, June 17—(AP)—With three American citizens under arrest, additional pieces are falling into place in the jig-saw pattern of Soviet wartime spying in the United States.

By all indications, further arrests are in the offing, but when and where they will come, no one will say.

However, it is known that scores of FBI agents have spent many months putting together bits of information from all sorts of sources in an effort to complete the picture.

Fuchs, Key Figure

What was perhaps the key piece of the spy puzzle fell into place with the arrest in London last February of Dr. Klaus Fuchs, a top British atomic scientist. Detained by British intelligence on information originally developed by the FBI, Fuchs admitted giving the Russians atom secrets and was sent to prison for 14 years.

After top G-men had interviewed Fuchs in prison last month, the bureau closed in on Harry Gold, 39-year-old Philadelphia chemist, who had long been under FBI watch. Gold admitted acting as a courier between Fuchs and Soviet agents in this country during the war.

With the pattern taking shape, the FBI this week picked up Alfred Dean Slack, 44, chemist employed by a paint manufacturing concern at Syracuse, N. Y., and David Greenglass, 28, former U. S. army sergeant, of New York City.

Ball Is $100,000

Each of the three Americans is charged with wartime espionage, which carries a possible death penalty. Each is held on $100,000 bond.

Slack was accused of delivering to Gold, for the benefit of the Russians, top secrets about the manufacture of "RDX," an explosive which was being manufactured by a special American process at the Holston Ordnance Works, Kingsport, Tenn. Slack had been employed there in 1943 and 1944.

Greenglass, who was assigned to the Los Alamos atomic project in 1945, and who was described as having worked on the A-bomb itself, was charged with turning atomic information over to Gold at Albuquerque, N. M., in the summer of that year.

With these arrests, the Justice Department dropped the previous mystery about the "John Doe, alias John" and the "Richard Roe, alias Sam" who were indicted for

It also stipulated that he pay $500 a year for four years to provide for the child's education, besides his medical and dental bills. She was represented by Fearer and Nye, her husband by Henry Warner.

Supreme Court Justices Are Not Best Writers in World

By JAMES MARLOW
Washington, June 17—(AP)—This week I ran into the dean of a big American law school, and we talked about the Supreme Court.

We started talking about a Washington Post editorial which criticized the court for "dumping" 18 opinions on the public in one day.

That was June 9, the court's last day before it went on vacation. Too much for the public to digest in one day, the Post said.

"Perhaps," the newspaper said, "it is of no concern to the court whether its output is properly communicated to the people. Yet we do not see how anybody in a democratic land could take such an attitude."

The dean defended the court. He said he couldn't see how it could do any better.

Not Good Writers
From there we discussed the writing ability of the nine justices.

Some of them, I suggested, don't write very well, or at least don't write so clearly and simply that the general public can understand.

Since, from the immemorial, lawyers have written in a language all their own, I asked the dean if American law schools are doing anything about teaching their future lawyers to write more readable English.

"Yes, indeed," the dean said, "American law schools are very much aware of that and have been working at it for years."

This is often quite a task, he said, because universities ship into the law schools too many graduates who can't write at all.

I suggested that if lawyers would stop writing Latin words and use English words, which most people can understand, it would be helpful.

The dean objected to this Latin words in law, he said, have a special meaning for lawyers and can't be discarded.

Since I didn't know what standards the dean had for good writing by lawyers, I asked him: Who among the nine Supreme Court justices is the shining example of a good writer?

Named his favorite. He said lawyers generally consider this one man's opinion positively brilliant.

Doesn't Agree
It so happens that a number of newsmen, including me, think this particular justice is the worst writer on the court.

"When you say he's brilliant," I said, "do you mean he's clear in writing for the public or do you mean he uses words which have a special meaning for lawyers only?"

"For lawyers," the dean said. But I said, "I thought we were talking about writing so that both lawyers and the public can understand."

"I know," the dean said. "But that reminds me of a story about the late Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes."

One day he had an opinion to write and explained it to his assistant. The assistant wrote out the opinion and showed it to the justice.

"The justice said no," that the assistant had missed the point. So the justice wrote the opinion himself and showed it to his assistant.

"The assistant read it through and told the justice: 'I don't see where you say here the point you explained to me.'"

"Then the justice pointed to a single word down deep in the opinion and the clerk looked and said: 'Oh, now that you point it out, I can see where that word says what you had in mind. But only one lawyer in 100 would see that.'"

"And Justice Holmes answered, 'Precisely. But—he'd be the lawyer with the keen mind.'"

Of course, if only one lawyer out of 100 could understand what the justice had said, the public would sort of be left out of it.

So I asked the dean if he meant by his example that the justice who wrote only for the very keen mind, the one out of 100, was the best writer.

The dean said that was more or less the idea.

Attractive Fence Enhances Home's Beauty

By BOB SCHARFF

Written for NEA Service

A good fence has many values, such as privacy, beauty and protection. Like a picture frame, a fence bounds the property and gives a finished look to the home.

There are many styles and types of fence, a description of which would be impossible in this short space. However, installation information discussed here for a picket fence will hold true for almost any type of design.

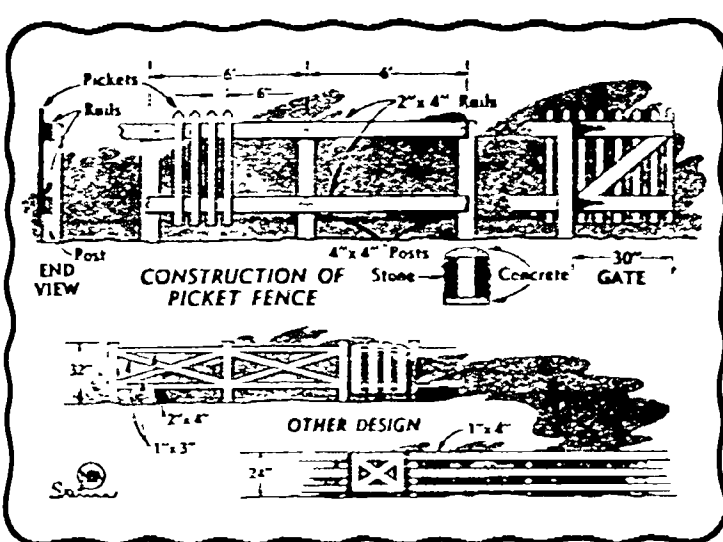

As a first step, figure the number of posts, rail and pickets required to enclose your property, following the sketch for dimensions. Pickets can be purchased already cut to length and pointed.

Before using, treat posts with a wood preservative, from the bottom up to a point 6 inches above ground, the bottom 6 inches of pickets, and the bottom rail. Also brush it on at every jointing point of two pieces of wood.

Use a preservative containing pentachlorophenol or zinc or copper salts and apply as recommended. It is also wise to use it on decay-resistant wood such as cedar, redwood and locust.

After the preservative has dried for two or three days mark all posts for the notches into which the 2 by 4 rails are to be fitted. Then, with a crosscut saw cut across the posts to the depth desired, about 1 1/2 inches, and with a wood chisel and mallet chip out the notches.

Next, stake out the locations for the posts and dig holes for them. Make the holes of a uniform depth. Set the first post in about 1/2 of its length below ground and tamp earth down well around it. Posts also may be set in concrete. When is done, pour a layer of concrete at the base of the post, partially fill the hole with rocks, then pour another layer near the surface.

Center a 2 by 4-inch rail in the top notch of this post and with a carpenter's level check the true-ness of the post and rail. Set a post on either side of the first, making sure that they are the same height out of the ground as the first. Recheck the level of the top rail and fasten to the posts. Continue with the setting of posts, and nailing on of rails until all are set. Then nail on the low rails and the pickets.

The pickets can be spaced the width of one picket apart or wider as desired, using a loose picket or board between them to assure uniform spacing. Check

Firecrackers Break Law in State, Warning

It is no longer a mischievous prank to shoot firecrackers and other dangerous fireworks in Illinois. It is definitely against the law. Frank H. Woods, Jr., President of the Illinois Society For The Prevention of Blindness, warned that fireworks accidents are on the increase in Illinois. In 1949 there were 144 accidents, twice as many as in 1948, and 31 eye injuries. Two Illinois youths lost an eye and one man was killed. Supervised public displays such as those promoted by fire departments, the American Legion and other responsible groups reported only three accidents.

Mr. Woods said further that the Illinois law defines illegal fireworks as any which produce an audible effect by explosion, deflagration or detonation.

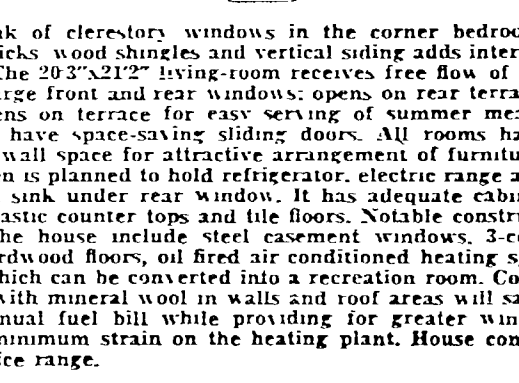

Sparklers and other devices in which paper caps containing twenty-five hundredths grains or less of explosive compound and toy pistol paper caps which contain less than twenty-hundredths grains of explosive mixture are legal. Even these so-called harmless fireworks must be used with extreme caution.

Parents are urged to keep their children from irresponsible celebrations. Mr. Woods cautioned that a few burned fingers may not be serious but eyes put out can never be replaced. Don't let a firecracker cost your child's sight. Don't encourage delinquency by contributing to breaking of the Illinois "anti-fireworks" law.

Landlords Admit Honeymoon Is Over; Renters Get 'Break'

By HAL BOYLE

New York—(AP)—There's a grand new day dawning for that forlorn American figure—the guy who wants to rent a place to live.

Yes, fellow tenants, somebody wants us again after all these years. Who wants us? Landlords do. Yes, that's right—landlords.

A big landlord told me so himself. "The renting honeymoon is over for the landlord," said Fred Trump, one of the nation's top ten private housing builders.

"We've been on a honeymoon since 1912. But we don't have to call the cops anymore to keep order in lines of people waiting to sign leases."

Competition Tough. "The builder from now on will have to do more and more for the tenant, because the competition for his rent money is getting keener all the time."

What can the tenant look forward to getting that he hasn't received since 1942?

"More light and air, larger pre-war size rooms and special services of many kinds," said Trump. He is completing two giant projects in Brooklyn—Spore Haven and Beach Haven—which cost him $20,000,000 and will hold 3,200 Broadway show.

families. The six-story apartment buildings occupy only 20 per cent of the area. The rest is given over to parks and play areas.

When the projects were in the planning stage, a member of the board of education told him:

Have Schools, Too.

"These big developments cause tremendous crowding in the schools near them, particularly in the lower grades. Why don't you let us put a kindergarten in each of your projects?"

"At right," said Trump, who has five children himself.

The board member then suggested that the space be provided free. Trump thought that over a little longer—then said okay. The school board could have the rooms for a dollar a year.

Trump also provides a supervised play nursery. He is setting up a baby sitting service. He has a "country car" to drive tenants to the seashore, and a beach watching service to take care of the children while the parents go swimming.

Each new mother in the projects receives a dozen roses from him. As a gesture of good will Trump also started to give new tenants a pair of tickets to a Broadway show.

Denies Saying Sen. McCarthy Was Unethical

Columbus, O., June 17—(AP)—Receiver Clyde Foraker of the Lustron Corp. denied last night that he said it was "unethical" for U. S. Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) to sell Lustron a housing manuscript for $10,000.

But the two reporters who interviewed Foraker stuck by their story. Ken Davis of the Associated Press and Bob Kanode of the AP member Columbus Dispatch, both veteran newspapermen, said that a check of their notes—after Foraker's denial—bore them out.

Lustron borrowed $37,500,000 from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, a government agency. RFC asked a receivership because Lustron, mass producer of porcelain-enamelled-on-steel homes, defaulted on the loans. Federal Judge Mel G. Underwood appointed Foraker about two months ago.

Based on Tour McCarthy's manuscript was based on his 30,000-mile-tour as vice-chairman of the joint congressional committee on housing Lustron, which bought the manuscript before it went bankrupt, distributed the housing booklet for 25 cents.

"At no time," Foraker said in a formal statement, "did I tell reporter Davis or any other member of the press that it was unethical for Senator McCarthy to sell a housing manuscript for $10,000."

"The entire story is simply a misquote," he maintained. Foraker denied the story in a telephone call to the Associated Press.

The booklet states that McCarthy's article was based on his congressional tour investigating housing. Davis and Kanode agreed that Foraker pointed to that statement in the booklet, and said:

"This is what I object to." They quoted him further as saying:

"I'll bet he couldn't have gotten it (the $10,000) if he wasn't a senator."

Set No Precedent McCarthy, in selling an article on a subject he was dealing about as a senator, set no precedent. Many congressmen and other high government officials do the same.

Motorist Killed As Car Hits Bus

Alton Ill. June 17—(AP)—An automobile and a bus collided head-on in Alton last night killing the driver of the car and injuring five bus passengers.

Joseph W. Miller, 19, East Alton, whose car was wedged under the front of the Wood River Bus Company bus, was fatally injured.

Gasoline poured onto the four-lane U. S. highway 67 which winds through the city as Broadway. There was no fire, but the Alton fire department sent equipment to the scene because of the hazard.

Injured were Otto Riltz 51, East Alton, Robert Wright Wood River, Walter Westman, Alton, Helen Magee Alton, and Walter Klaus, St. Louis.

Edward W. Allsman 34, of Alton, driver of the bus was not injured.

The newsman said they explained this to Foraker, but they said, he replied.

"I still don't care, it's still unethical."

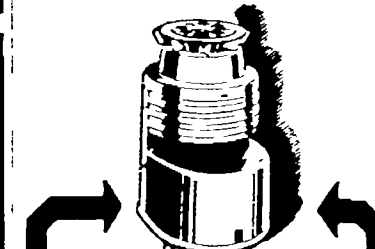

Davis and Kanode said Judge Underwood and Underwood's secretary were present most of the time during the interview. Neither could be reached for comment.

INTERMEDIATE TROOP 4

This troop is composed of 20 seventh grade girls of North Central school with Mrs. H. D. Newcomer and Mrs. Jack Van Meter as leaders.

Home making is their major field. This year they have completed three badges—food, good grooming and sewing. They are all nearly ready for their first class rank.

Dr. Katz gave them a talk on the care of the feet. Miss Betty Fish and Mrs. Robert Burris talked on hair, skin and nail care. They visited Price's Poultry house and also Lavton Dairy.

The troop is working on the foot traveler badge for which they have to hike 100 miles. They have had many hikes during the last two years and have already gone 75 miles.

Several parties were enjoyed on Halloween, Christmas and Valentine's day. Also, they attended the Father-Daughter banquet. At another time the girls entertained the seventh grade boys at a Square Dance Party.

They enjoyed a three day camping trip at Camp Ralston and are planning a Court of Awards at a family picnic.

They elected officers three times, so each girl has held an office.

INTERMEDIATE TROOP 10

By Betty Black

Intermediate Troop No. 10 of the seventh grade meets at Lincoln school every Monday with Mrs. George Reed their leader. The troop has been working on second class badges and also on their sewing badge.

For Valentine's day they gave a party for the seventh grade girls and boys. It was held at the Youth Center. They made friendship bags and sent them overseas. For St. Patrick's day, they made trays for the sick patients at the Manson House. Just recently they went to Lowell park for a cook-out.

They are planning to go troop camping at Camp Ralston this month for four days. Money has been earned to finance this project by selling greeting cards and having a sandwich sale at Lincoln school.

Officers and members of the troop are: Sharon Rinehart, president; Beverly Brown, vice-president; Betty Black, secretary; Melva Bridgman, treasurer; Martha Wilson, Lorraine Lourdeau, Judy Vilizer, Susan Wolf, Wanda Malmstrom, Marilyn Trader, Patricia Trotter, Gloria May and Joyce Miller.

The girls taking part in the play were Kathryn Gronberg, Anne Swim, Mary Lundquist, Joanne Yount, Patricia Leer and Kathleen Gorman. The troop leaders, Mrs. Clyde Yount and Mrs. George Stiles, explained the weekend camping trip they were planning.

They spent the weekend of May 19-21 at Camp Ralston. The girls slept out-of-doors and did all their cooking over camp-fires. Various committees were appointed to serve during the stay and each girl did her work well. The weekend was planned completely by the girls as to food and activities. They hiked to various spots in the area, waded up and down the creek, and at night they had great fun with skits and singing around the huge fire in Harvey Hall.

On Sunday morning church services were held by the girls on the beach. George Lundquist transported the girls to and from the camp in one of his trucks.

During the year, the girls visited the library, the fire station and police station. They happened to be at this spot on the night of the robbery at Murphy's Market and listened to the police reports come in over the radio. They also sat in on a city council meeting that same night. In November the girls hiked to the State hospital and saw the beautiful handicraft which is made there.

Many badges were earned during the year and were given to the girls at their end-of-the-year affair.

Troop members are: Marva Bivins, Barbara Culver, Betty Donoho, Marilyn Durhan, Kathleen Gorman, Patricia Gras, Kathryn Gronberg, Edythe Guise, Jeanne Johnston, Virginia Klatt, Patricia Leer, Mary Lindquist, Wilma Presnell, Jeanne Randall, Anne Swim, Shirley Thayer, Gretchen Van Scoy, Marlis Wickler and Joanne Yount.

BROWNIE TROOP 25

This troop was organized the first part of October with Mrs. Delbert Pitman as leader and Mrs. A. F. Bryant as co-leader. The committee members are: Mrs. John Hawley, Mrs. George Horton, and Mrs. J. Johnson.

In November they went on an apple hike and in the spring they had a trail hike as part of their preparation for their fly-up.

They had special parties at Halloween, Christmas and Valentine's day. At Christmas they had a tea with the mothers, the fourth grade teachers and Miss Esther Barton as guests. They embroidered tea towels for their mother's Christmas gifts and made picture ash trays for their father's Christmas gifts. They also made wall plaques for their mothers for Mother's day.

They donated to the polo fund and also sent two overseas school bag kits to two little girls whom they received letters from last fall thanking them for the clothing kits they received from the Dixon girls last year.

They spent the last two months preparing for their fly-up. Their investiture ceremony, when the girls received their Girl Scout pins and wings, was Friday night, June 2, at the Loveland Community House with about 85 in attendance. The parents and families of the girls were invited. Recreations of punch, Girl Scout cookies, candy and nuts were served. Also at this meeting gifts were presented to the three girls selling the most cookies and to the five girls with perfect attendance for the year.

They elected officers every four weeks so each girl had a chance to serve.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Atom Proposal Merits Consideration

When David Lilienthal resigned the chairmanship of the Atomic Energy Commission, he said he wanted a chance to discuss freely the great issues affecting future atomic development.

Writing in Collier's magazine, he has now made his first important policy statement since quitting that post. He urges that the government monopoly on atomic energy be ended and that industry be given fully opportunity to show what it can do in this vital field.

To critics who have consistently opposed Lilienthal for alleged "leftist" tendencies, there must be something of a shock in his glowing words for the possibilities in atomic energy development by private enterprise.

Had there been government monopoly in chemistry or electronics, he says, we would not today have the great industries that have grown up in those fields through the resourceful application of thousands of new ideas by countless individuals.

New ideas are what atomic energy needs today, adds Lilienthal, if it is to realize its promise as the nation's real industrial frontier in the next 50 years. "The time for the first industrial applications of atomic knowledge is overdue."

Properly developed, he sees atomic energy as affording the setting for "another miracle of industrial growth" in the United States. That means new jobs, new business, new ways of living still undreamed of.

But to Lilienthal these wonderful goals are impossible to reach so long as government keeps its tight grip on atomic knowledge. Federal monopoly just can't be fitted into the American industrial system; it belongs only in countries like Soviet Russia.

His strongest, most alarming declaration: "It is of the deepest importance to us all that we face up to this inescapable fact—atomic knowledge in the hands of government will be intensively and successfully developed only for military purposes."

He says the AEC has tried earnestly and failed to stimulate the necessary growth of new ideas within its own narrow circle of cooperating companies. It's time to break that circle and let everyone in. Lilienthal believes fundamental knowledge on atomic energy can be spread liberally without endangering our national security.

His arguments are persuasive. All of us know our industrial greatness is keyed to the free play of inventive, imaginative minds. No one can tell where a great idea will come from. But it's common sense that the more minds we have at work in a field the more likely are we to make genuine progress.

Lilienthal's proposals merit the early attention of our highest leaders.

Few Blemishes Mar Record

Airplanes are still crashing into the sea with tragic loss of life. Against that backdrop, it's useful to examine the overseas flying record of the U. S. airlines, which have not been involved in these recent accidents.

A government report the other day noted that American commercial craft have been flying across the oceans for 12 years on a regular basis. In that span, they have made more than 61,000 separate flights. And there were only five major accidents in that 61,000.

This is a performance worthy of America's high standards of public transportation safety and efficiency. It demonstrates, too, that overwater flying is no riskier than overland. In fact, some experts argue that weather conditions and air currents are far worse on land because of mountains and other disturbing factors.

It's probably a more dangerous venture to pile into your car and drive 500 miles to visit your family than to hop to London in a four-motored transport.

A pool of molten zirconium, at a temperature of near 6500 degrees Fahrenheit, provides the light in a lamp which has a brilliancy one-eighth that of the sun.

Intermittent heating is more efficient than continuous heating for de-icing airplane surfaces, such as wings and propellers, under extremely heavy icing conditions.

Light from distant nebulae traveled a billion years to get here, so science now knows that parts of the universe were in existence at least a billion years ago.

Dutch elm disease, which has killed many American elms in New England since first noticed about 1930, is caused by a fungus in the tree's water-conducting system and is spread by elm bark beetles.

Aircraft have been designed to take off in the usual manner from a long runway or, tilted on its tail, to take off like a helicopter. It is an "all-wing" type and special landing gear enables it to be put in the nose-up position.

If the Army, Navy and Air Force could agree on uniform underwear, $7,000,000 would be saved annually.

Cost of government can be reduced! Government can be made more efficient! Remind Congress you want the Hoover commission's recommendations put into effect—and no fooling!

Voice of the People

ON THE MOVIES

To the Editor
Dixon Evening Telegraph
Dixon, Illinois

As a reader of the "Voice of the People," I'd like to write in an answer to some of these movie goers, and parents who are foolish enough to spend out so much money to send their children to the movies.

In my opinion the Rorers and the other guy are drawing too much money, but if we were getting that much I sure wouldn't complain, and if I or anyone else could get it we would.

I think that's just between the stockholders and the Rorers.

Next are they (the Rorers) making you send your children to the movies twice a week or are you sending them to get rid of them so as some say we can get some rest while they are gone. Course if the Rorers make you send them you have a right to complain.

But in my opinion I don't think children need to see two shows a week, one a month is plenty. Then I think parents should accompany them on these trip to movies, as I think parents let their children go to many places alone, and if parents would take more time to go with their children to movies and other places there would be less delinquency.

Too many parents have the idea their children wouldn't do anything wrong, or if they said they were going one place change their minds and go another. Wasn't there proof in the paper last week when the parents sent their girl one place and she turned up some where's else, and if they'd taken a little time of their own to have taken her and seen that she went to the proper and right place, she wouldn't have turned up some place else the next day. They trusted her to do what was right. But I suppose she thought she'd get back okay and nobody would ever know the difference.

But a lot of parents send their children to the movie so they can go other places and won't have to be bothered with them, 50c for a couple hours of getting your children taken care of isn't too high is it, and besides you don't have to be bothered hunting a sitter to stay with them when you send them to the movies.

In my opinion I think children need their parents to be more firm guidance instead of letting them go just because they feel they're old enough at the age of 15 and 16. My opinion children should be home in bed at 10:30 o'clock at these ages.

If the Rorers can get you to attend their shows and help pay them such high wages, don't blame them, unless they are forcing you to come, but I think the people go willingly to the show, mostly just a habit.

Now don't get the idea I am not a parent without children and I also have some teenagers. Once in awhile on Saturday night we take them up to the movies and go back and meet them at the door. I also know we have been laughed at about being so strict and not leaving them home alone. But I know what they are doing and that's a big relief to my mind.

Waiting for comments which I know will be coming my way. But just stop and think first how true all of this is.

Workers Beat Capital's 'Upper Crust' To Choice Seats at Birthday Pageant

Washington—(NEA)—High Washington brass and the town's socialites are a little miffed over the seating arrangements which have been made for the main attraction of the celebration of the city's 150th birthday this summer.

The event in question is a big pageant called "Faith of Our Fathers" which will be presented in a giant new amphitheater being built in Rock Creek Park. It's generally considered a mark of social rank here to have the best seats for any important event such as this.

However, Edward Boykin, the noted historian from Charlottesville, Va., who is in charge of the production, has ruled that the best seats at the gala premier will go to the carpenters and laborers who worked on construction of the amphitheater, and for free. It's a deserved reward, he says, for their hard work on the project.

Popular Rep. Mike Monroney (D, Oklahoma) who was named the outstanding congressman on the hill is reported to be making good headway in his fight to win the Democratic senatorial nomination next month. His opponent, the elder Sen. Elmer Thomas who has sat in the Senate for 24 years, is out campaigning harder than he ever has before. But he's using the same tack that lost Senator Pepper the nomination in Florida. It's the claim that he loaded the state with Federal projects and benefits. The only difference is that Pepper claimed he had been responsible for delivering $1,500,000,000 worth of pork. Thomas is only claiming the delivery of $1,000,000,000 worth.

But Thomas is also trying to make clear to the Oklahoma voters that his seniority on Senate committees is the best advantage point for getting additional federal dollars and benefits. Actually, in spite of his youth, Monroney's great popularity among all the congressmen and government officials probably gives him more influence in the Capitol than Thomas wields. But he's not making an issue of this.

Inter-Service Feud Takes New Tack
Some Pentagon experts predict at least a backstage feud between the Army and Air Force over the recent announcement that ground forces would have atomic weapons for tactical use against the enemy. They point out that the recent Navy-Air Force fight was basically over which agency would handle delivery services for the A-bomb.

When the use of tactical atomic weapons first began to be taught in the Army's schools, the Air Force experts registered their objections to such instructions. There's still plenty of doubt among the top military planners as to whether or not the A-bomb is a satisfactory tactical weapon.

Difficult Adjustment Period
Post Office officials are upset by the fact that some letter carriers are using their jobs to try to arouse the public to demand a restoration of the cuts in service. It is reported that some carriers are distributing petitions asking for two deliveries a day. Many are complaining about the lack of a place and time to eat lunch. Some reports of deliberate slowdowns are also being looked into by postal inspectors.

Answer of the postal officials to the complaints is that the carriers actually will have plenty of time to go any place they want for lunch, that

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Guessing Spells Path to Failure

By OSWALD JACOBY

"I'll tell you exactly why I re-doubled," said North. "Go right ahead and tell me," said South.

"Well," continued North, "I figured that any time we got all the way up to a grand slam we couldn't possibly be down more than one trick. And maybe we'd make it."

"Now, if they happened to set us, the redouble costs us only 200 points. But if we happen to make it, the redouble gives us 360 additional points. In other words, I was gambling only 200 points for a chance to make 360. That's very nearly 2 to 1 odds."

North's arithmetic was very good but his common sense was very bad. He forgot to take into consideration the fact that West, the player who had doubled seven spades, was a very good player. He was the sort of player who would double a slam on "general principles." If West doubled, there were no ifs, ands or buts about it; the hand was surely going to be set.

With the ace of trumps in his hand, West could easily afford to give declarer 2 to 1 odds against a grand slam. In fact even my friend Generous George might have offered 3 to 1 odds.

North's bidding was, of course, fantastically optimistic. He was blinded by the length and strength of his diamonds and the fact that he had an excellent fit with his partner's spades. However, there was no need for him to guess about the final contract.

It was all right for North to make a jump bid in diamonds and then show control of clubs and hearts. After that, it was sufficient for him to go to six spades.

With such strong bidding from North, South would automatically bid a grand slam if his spades were headed by all three of the top honors. If, however, South's spades were headed by only ace-king, ace-queen, or king-queen, South would stop short at a small slam.

North was trying to guess what his partner held, and was then trying to bid the cards thus guessed. It would have been much easier and far safer if he had let South bid his own cards. After all, South was no need for him to guess about the final contract.

It was all right for North to

Girls Who Keep Friends Observe Rules of Courtesy

"Would you please write something about friendship between girls?" asks a mother. "My daughter and her crowd read your column and it seems to me they could all benefit from some advice on that subject, as they are in my estimation, rude and often downright cruel to each other."

Friendships can't, of course, be made or kept by rules alone. And yet the girl who really wants friends can easily lose the ones she has by breaking the following rules:

One. Never criticize your friends behind their backs. It's one thing to disagree with a friend openly or even to "tell her off," but quite another thing to criticize her to someone else.

Two. When a friend receives a little praise from someone else, add to it. Don't belittle her by keeping silent or making light of the quality or accomplishment for which she is being praised.

Three. Be considerate of your friends. It's rude to plan to do something with a girl and then call it off at the last moment because you get a chance for a date.

Four. Never try to keep a friend from getting invited into a club to which you belong simply because you want to have something she doesn't have. It's surprising how many girls do just that sort of thing.

Five. Don't try to take over a friend's date when you are double-dating. That's an almost sure fire way of ruining a friendship.

Six. Keep things told to you in confidence to yourself. The girl who can't keep a secret, usually can't keep a friend for long.

Seven. Don't be jealous of your friends. There is room for all of you, and each has her own good points. Just because one girl seems a little more popular than the rest at the moment is no reason to start picking on her.

Eight. Never deliberately do anything else to hurt another girl, whether she is a good friend or not. Remember that, and you will always have friends.

Abundant Living

Heb. 5:14; Eph. 4:18; Rom. 10:2-3, 14-17

A WELL-TRAINED CONSCIENCE

The Christian is a foe to ignorance; he fights it on every front. To get in touch with Christ is to have a mental awakening. It was no mere chance that 95 per cent of the higher educational institutions of America came out of the Christian Church. Jesus said, "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy mind." That phrase "with all thy mind" was not in the original Old Testament command; Jesus put it in. Scientists tell us that most of us use only about half of our brains. Jesus would awaken that other dormant half and help us to love God with "all" our minds.

"Where ignorance is bliss, 'tis folly to be wise," does not fit into the Christian outlook which says, "Ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free." Jesus would encourage men to think for themselves: "Why even of yourselves judge ye not what is right?" An upstanding, thinking, free personality is the end of the Christian discipline.

An ignorantly trained conscience is a danger to the world. The conscience is not an infallible guide unless properly trained. It is a capacity within us which decides when a thing is right or wrong, but what it decides as right or wrong is determined by the training we give it. Paul killed people in all good conscience until his conscience began to be trained under the tutelage of Christ. Then and then only was it a safe guide. We make our consciences, and then our consciences make us. Many people have their consciences trained to be sensitive to very marginal sins and shortcomings, and not to be at all acute to central and fundamental sins. They have picayunish consciences which load them with a sense of guilt over trivialities. A truly Christian conscience is a great achievement, as well as a great gift of God.

Not only does conscience approve or disapprove within the framework of what it is taught, but guidance also is within the framework of our intellectual conceptions. To give the safest and highest guidance, our minds must be Christianly informed and trained.

O God, I begin to see that I must love Thee with an intellectual love as well as with an emotional love. Awaken my brain cells to activity and to acuteness, so that I may be the sharpest instrument I can be. Save me from intellectual laziness and help me think Thy thoughts after Thee. Amen.

Preacher Roe Whips Cards Third Time This Season

By JACK HAND

Associated Press Sports Writer

Preacher Roe must be public enemy No. 1 in St. Louis. Every time the Cards get hot, the lanky southpaw from Hardy, Ark., holds up the stop sign.

The preacher man did it again last night, snapping a seven-game St. Louis win streak, as he pitched Brooklyn to a 7-3 victory. The result slashed the Cards' lead to 2½ games.

Beating St. Louis is old stuff for Roe, who once tolled in the Card chain gang. Last year he whipped the Red Birds four out of five. So far this year he's 3-1 against St. Louis with more than half the season to go.

Johnny Sam, making the pitching comeback of the year, won his ninth for the Boston Braves on Sam Jethroe's ninth inning single with two out. Jethroe's hit, prolonging his hitting streak to 12 games, scored Sibby Sisti for a 6-5 edge over luckless Pittsburgh.

Al Dark and Hank Thompson provided the power for the New York Giants' Sheldon Jones in a 6-1 victory over Chicago. The Giants' ninth win in 12 games. Thompson homered to tie the score in the fourth and Dark's two-run double put the Giants out front to stay in the fifth.

The only day game in the majors, Cincinnati at Philadelphia, was rained out.

Newhouse Beats Boston
Hal Newhouse whipped Boston for the second time in six days, 4-1, before 54,086 Detroit home fans. Striking out Johnny Pesky four times, Newhouse scattered nine hits. Hal's fifth-inning double drove in what proved to be the decisive run.

Four of the players involved in the eight-man deal Thursday night saw action as the New York Yankees downed St. Louis, 7-5. Joe Ostrowski and Tom Ferrick pitched for the Yanks and Jim Deling and George Starnweiss played for the Browns.

Ostrowski stopped a Brownie threat in the seventh after starter Vic Raschi was knocked out. Then he was lifted for a pinch hitter. Ferrick finished up with two scoreless innings but the win went to Raschi. Deling scored home two St. Louis runs, scoring one. Starnweiss, playing third base knocked in one with a double and also scored one.

Alex Kellner, hit by a Dale Mitchell line drive was in a hospital when his Philadelphia A's finally lost a 5-2 game to Cleveland. Kellner was hit on the left temple by the liner in the fifth and carried off the field. X-rays disclosed no fracture. Shortly after Kellner's injury, Luke Easter hit a two-run homer that won the game.

BOOK 10-GAME SKED

The Orangemen will face Rutgers, Cornell, Penn State, Holy Cross, Boston University, Lafayette, Colgate and Fordham, all of whom were met last fall, and John Carroll. The John Carroll game, first between the two schools, will be played Friday night, Nov. 10, in Cleveland's Municipal Stadium.

Southern Cal Sends 10 Men To Track Finals

Minneapolis, Minn., June 17—(AP)—With one new mark in the book and Southern California poised to make a title run-away, the 29th National Collegiate Athletic Association track and field meet moved into the final round today.

After yesterday's 10-event trials at the University of Minnesota's Memorial Stadium, the Trojans of Southern California seemed destined to pile up more than 50 points for an easy sweep to their 14th crown.

The men of Troy whipped 10 qualifiers through the preliminary competition, including Dandy Dick Attlesley whose qualifying stint in the 120 high hurdles equalled the meet mark of 13.9.

Dark horse contender Yale had a flickering title hope resting on three performers, headed by defending shot-put champion Jim Fuchs whose record-smashing toss of 56 feet, 7¼ inches highlighted a somewhat disappointing trial session.

Stanford was runner-up to Southern California in yesterday's qualifying with six men—one more than Yale.

Four of the players involved in the eight-man deal Thursday night saw action as the New York Yankees downed St. Louis, 7-5. Joe Ostrowski and Tom Ferrick pitched for the Yanks and Jim Deling and George Starnweiss played for the Browns.

Rockford, Freeport to Play Here Sunday

Reynolds Field To Be Scene of Diamond Tilts

One baseball game and two soft ball tilts feature weekend play here in Dixon. Two more local baseball teams will be playing out of town.

Rockford Mattress comes to Dixon in a second place tie with Reynolds Wire, their Sunday afternoon opponent at Reynolds Field. The two baseball nines have identical 4-1 records in the Northern Illinois baseball league. A win from the visitors would give the Wiremen a secure hold on second place in the league standings and a good chance to pull up alongside the Blackhawk A. C. later in the season.

Ray Dall Osto, a former West Rockford prep star, will probably be on the mound for the Mattress nine. His most recent win was an 8-4 win from the Polo Maroons last Sunday.

The Wiremen whipped Genoa 3-1 last Sunday behind the four-hit pitching of Bud Kerley. This is the last game of the first round in Northern Illinois play. The Wire nine will journey to South Beloit to open the second round next Sunday.

Sunday Night Softball
A double treat is in store for Dixon softball fans Sunday night. A preliminary game has been arranged that rivals the main attraction at Reynolds Field. Grand Detour, leaders of the Oregon league, will play Fazzis of the Dixon City league in the first game.

Freeport's strong VFW team will play the Dixon All Stars in the feature contest. The Dixon All Stars will field the same outfit that knocked off Sterling last week with a no-hit performance. The outstanding pitcher in Northern Illinois will take his regular spot on the mound for Dixon. Vernon "Bullets" Kirk, who only last Sunday tossed a no-hit game for the locals, will try to set down the Freeport VFW. Kirk pitches during the week in the Freeport City league and will be well known to the visitors.

Merchants at Harmon
The Big Six league Dixon Merchants travel to Harmon for a game with their third place outfit. Harmon, now in a tie with Rock Falls and the Polo Hoffmans for third, will be trying for a win that would boost them into a tie for second. Dixon is in second place now and will jump into a first place spot if the winning Woosung nine should falter at Polo.

BIG SIX SCHEDULE
Morrison Vis at Rock Falls
Rock Falls at Harmon
Woosung at Polo Hoffmans
Dixon Merchants at Harmon

Big Ron Sitter fired a one-hit ball game against Morrison last Sunday and should be in good shape for tomorrow's contest. Harmon dropped Walton last week by a 5-2 margin.

Junior Legion Plays
Dixon's Junior Legion team travels to Amboy, completing the Sunday baseball for Dixon teams. Big Jim Mercer will probably go to the mound for the locals. The game is scheduled to begin at 2:00 p. m. at Longman Field in Amboy. The home team lost an 8-1 ball game to Rochelle last Sunday. Dixon was forced to play a practice contest when the opposition didn't show up.

Graziano Hurt, LaMotta to Meet Substitute Boxer

New York, June 17—(AP)—Either Laurent Dauthuille of France or Tiberno Mitri of Italy will get the June 23 title shot at middleweight champion Jake LaMotta.

A "break" in the title bout came yesterday when Rocky Graziano was forced out with a thumb fracture. The International Boxing club spent most of the night looking for a "sub." The promoters insist there definitely will be a fight. But then, Jake has to agree too.

Sugar Ray Robinson, world welter champ and middleweight king in Pennsylvania, isn't interested in being a "sub." His manager, George Gainford, said in Havana, "Ray's no sub fighter. He's a champion. We hope to fight LaMotta in the future."

Harness Races At Chicago Downs Slated

Chicago—(Special)—Dates covering the eight top ranking stake races on the Illinois harness racing circuit scheduled among the Chicago Downs Association's program of events of Sportsman's Park for the impending 43-day meeting have been announced by officials of the half-mile Cicero track.

Two of the top feature events on the program will be carrying a $15,000 purse, the Sportsman's Trot slated as the headline on Friday night, July 28, and the Sportsman's Pace slated for the stellar attraction Saturday night, August 12. The nation's top pacers and trotters are to be nominated in both these tests, which will be run at one and one-sixteenth mile.

Top Trotters
Racing Secretary Jerry Baier has received 184 nominations for the eight stakes and believes the nation's top trotters and pacers will be among those competing for the $60,000 in prize money. The complete roster of the stake races on the Downs racing calendar are:

Friday, July 14—The Siskiyow Farm Pace, $5,000 purse.
Wednesday, July 19—The Hayes Fair Acres Trot, $5,000 purse.
Friday, July 28—The Sportsman's Trot, $15,000 purse.
Wednesday, August 2—The Ankabac Acres Pace, $5,000 purse.
Saturday, August 12—The Sportsman's Pace, $15,000 purse.
Wednesday, August 16—The "Harness Horse" Trot, $5,000 purse.
Wednesday, August 23—The "Horse and Fair World" Pace, $5,000 purse.
Wednesday, August 30—The "Hoof Beats" Trot, $5,000 purse.

Junior Legion Beats Comets By 2-1 Edge

The Dixon Junior American Legion won a well-earned 2-1 victory from Sterling Community high school here Thursday night at Reynolds Field.

The game was a pitcher's duel between Wells of Dixon and Hellen of the Comets. Each allowed just three hits to the opposition. Hellen struck out 10 men and Wells fired three strikes past eight batters.

Dixon won the game in the fifth inning before a sparse crowd. Russell, the second man up in the frame, hit a double. Wells won his own game by hitting a single to center and driving home Russell.

White Sox Are Hot! Win 6th Straight Game

Chicago, June 17—(AP)—The White Sox, only one game behind the fifth place Senators, wrapped up their sixth straight victory before 24,026 fans in Comiskey Park last night by dumping Washington 7-1.

The Sox jammed across all their runs in the third inning to support Rae Scarborough to a sparkling win over his former mates. He gained his third victory in four starts for the Comiskey on a yield of five hits although walking 10 batters.

Dave Philley's No. 4 homer produced three of the Sox seven tallies in the big frame—their biggest upswing of the season. Twelve batters went to the plate.

It was the Sox' 14th triumph in 23 games under Manager Johnny Corriden's command.

FIGHTS
SEATTLE—Harry "Kid" Matthews, 175, Seattle, knocked out Phil Muscato, 170, Buffalo 1.
NEW ORLEANS—Bernard Dugan, 147, New Orleans, outpointed Ralph Samelli, 145, Boston, 10.

ATHLETIC DIRECTOR APPOINTED—University of Wisconsin basketball coach Harold E. "Bud" Foster (left) congratulates Guy M. Sundt (right) upon his appointment as the director of intercollegiate athletics at Wisconsin. Sundt succeeds Harry A. Struhldreher who resigned to accept a position with the United States Steel Corporation. Struhldreher took the post of athletic director two years ago when the poor performance of the Wisconsin grid forced him to resign as coach under pressure.

Lawson Little Holds Lead In Palm Beach Golf Meet

New Rochelle, N. Y., June 17—(AP)—After pausing briefly to chase Jack Burke, Jr., the field is back on the trail of Lawson Little in the fourth round of the slightly dizzy Palm Beach golf tournament today.

Little, first-round leader of the 16 competing pros with a point total of plus 15, lost the lead to the curly-haired Burke in the morning round of yesterday's play, then won it back again in the afternoon to finish the day with plus 21 and a three point lead over his closest rival, Claude Harmon.

Eighteen holes will be played today over the Wykagyl country club course, with the final 18 tomorrow, and with the standings changing with startling rapidity the eventual winner was a matter of wild guesswork.

Round Robin Tourney
The tournament is played on a round robin basis, with each of the 16 competitors playing in a foursome with each other contestant in one of the five rounds.

Points are awarded on a plus or minus basis based on the medal score of each player as compared with the other three in his foursome of the moment. That is, a player with a 70 will gain two points over a rival who shoots a 72.

Medal scores can be very deceiving, inasmuch as Little, leading with plus 21, has a 211 score for his first three rounds while Lloyd Mangrum, in third place with plus 17, has a medal score of 205.

It all depends upon whom a particular player happens to be playing with at a particular time. Fred Haas Jr., for instance, shot a one-under-par 71 for his afternoon round yesterday but lost 11 points, while Little, in a different foursome, shot a 71 and gained seven.

Rough Foursome
Haas' misfortune was in being in a foursome which included Art Bell, who carded a 65, Jimmy Demaret, who shot a 69 and incidentally lost three points in so doing and Lloyd Mangrum, who tied the competitive course record with 65.

The standings at the start of today's single round were:
Little plus 21, Harmon, plus 18; Mangrum, plus 17; Cary Middlecott, plus 10; Merman Barrow, plus eight; Jack Burke, plus four; Art Bell, plus four; Jim Fernier, plus three; Paul Runyan, plus one; Sam Sneed, minus two; Jimmy Demaret, minus three; Fred Haas Jr., minus nine; Norman Von Nida, minus 13; George Fazio, minus 17; Chick Harbert, minus 18 and Ben Hogan, minus 24.

IN CASE OF HURRICANE
Miami—(AP)—During a hurricane, the famed flamingos who live in the inland lakes of Hialeah race track form a solid wedge on land, pointing into the wind, with each bird standing on one leg and leaning into the wind. As the wind direction shifts, the point of the wedge changes to meet it.

TINY CAPTAINS
State College, Pa.—(AP)—Two little fellows will captain Penn State sports teams next spring. Phil Benedetti of Philadelphia was the choice of the lacrosse team, while Joe Durmuck of Fair Oaks, Pa., is captain-elect of the golf team. Both are only five feet, five inches tall.

The lowest batting average ever to win the National League hitting title was .320 posted by Larry Doyle of the Giants in 1915.

Myers Gravel Tops VFW by 7-6 Margin

Oregon—(Special)—Myers Sand and Gravel edged the Dixon VFW here last night by a 7-6 score. The visitors scored two runs in the first of the seventh inning but couldn't push the tying marker around.

It was a big fourth inning that won for the home team. They scored five runs in the last half of this inning to jump from a 4-2 deficit to their seven runs. Nordman, Oregon's winning pitcher, helped his game along with a home run.

Knack led the Dixon offensive with two safe hits. J. Dailey and Nordman had two for the winners.

Ashton Hands Raynors 7-4 City Defeat

The Reynolds Field softball contests were close and exciting last night. United Cigar edged Lindquists out of first place in the City League and took over themselves by virtue of a 6-3 victory. The Lindquist nine is now tied with VFW for second place with a 4-1 record. United Cigar has a 4-0 mark. Ashton topped Raynors 7-4 behind a 12 hit attack. Ashton now has a 2-2 record good for fourth place.

Fanned few finished fast.
Forced fies from Joe Foey.
—Courtney Joe Beecher.

That, according to Joe is just the way the United Cigar team topped Lindquists in taking over the City lead. Fordham allowed the losers a total of seven hits. They were well spaced and two of them came in the seventh inning. United Cigar pushed across three in the seventh. Wayne Shaulls hit a long triple with two on and that was the deciding factor in a well-played game.

Errors hurt Lindquist and an unusual double play (short to first to catcher) snuffed out a rally.

Ashton Wins
Greenfield allowed Raynors seven hits and four runs in turning in a good pitching performance for the winning Ashton nine. He was ably supported by the big bats of Unger and Gatz. Unger had three hits, one a double. Gatz had two and homered in the fourth with no one on. The Ashton infield played good ball in spite of five errors.

main streets immediately became a river five feet deep.

Panic Spread

Panic spread as the water coursed through the town. The wave of water engulfed the Ohio Power Company's Crooksville station and all electric power in Crooksville and surrounding communities ceased.

As frightened citizens frantically sought refuge in the darkened town, the water reached a huge pottery kiln at the Acme Pottery Company. The kiln blew up with a spectacular puff of flame.

Almost immediately, the entire pottery, which normally employs more than 300, was a mass of flame.

Between 30 and 35 persons who had sought refuge in the pottery building were rescued without casualty. Firemen were unable to reach the plant because of the water and the building was leveled.

The fire spread to the adjoining Ceramic Pottery Company plant and destroyed it, too. It normally employs about 200.

The avalanche of water, which started its rush northward from the broken dam in Black Fork creek, roared into Jonathan creek south of Crooksville, poured through the town and northward to Roseville, another pottery-making community of 1,500 about five miles north of Crooksville.

As the flood began to recede here early today it began to rise rapidly in Roseville, but the force of the flood had somewhat diminished.

Champaign County's Population Up 50% Thanks to Students

Champaign, Ill., June 17 (AP)—The inclusion of University of Illinois students for the first time helped Champaign county record a 50 per cent increase in population since 1940.

Tentative census figures announced yesterday list 105,871 for the county, compared to 70,578 in 1940.

Inclusion of university students accounted for a higher percentage increase for Champaign and Urbana. Champaign's 39,597 is a 67 per cent gain. Urbana's 23,007 is 65.5 per cent more than 10 years ago.

The population gain will require establishing three new county offices, State's Attorney John J. Dreese said. State law requires a probate judge and clerk in counties over 50,000 population, and a county auditor in those over 75,000.

The Baltimore Sun, reporting on another aspect of the case, said senate investigators had been told the State and Navy Departments requested a two-month delay in 1945 before any arrests were made in the case—so that any other employees involved in the incident could be ferreted out.

The Amerasia inquiry is part of the senate committee's general investigation of McCarthy's charges that the State Department has been infiltrated by Communists and their friends.
